

We use first-party (own) and third-party cookies to improve our services and show you advertising that matches your preferred interests based on the evaluation of your navigation habits. If you keep on navigating, we shall consider that you accept this use. You can change the configuration or get further information here. (LINK TO COOKIES POLICY)

This website uses cookies that allow us to understand which are the most visited areas of our website and to track how users navigate therein.

In order to compile statistics on how our website is being used, we use statistic cookies and tracking cookies, with a limited access to the functions that are described in the previous paragraph, and with the purpose to get to know how often our visitors come back to visit our website and which contents are most relevant to them. This way we can concentrate our efforts to improve the most visited areas and enable the user to find more easily what he/she is looking for.

By means of configuring his/her own browser, the user has the possibility to delete these types of cookies before he/she starts to navigate through the website. In order to do so, the user can use filtering tools for blocking cookies.